++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Windy. Evening rain clearing north. Further rain Thursday morning.

This Evening and Tonight:
Cloudy through the evening, with strengthening winds and rain spreading north. Rain perhaps heavy across the Derbyshire hills, but likely clearing shortly after midnight. Staying rather cloudy and windy, however. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Thursday:
Cloudy and windy morning, with rain spreading east. Turning drier and brighter through the afternoon, with sunny spells and winds easing. Perhaps the odd shower across the Peak District later. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Changeable and often windy with periods of rain throughout, especially across western parts. Some sunny interludes also likely, with the best of the drier conditions in the east. Rather mild.
